

INCANDESCENT LAMP FOR USE IN HIGH EFFICIENCY ILLUMINATION SYSTEMS

An incandescent lamp comprises at least four linear, helically-wound filament sections arranged with their longitudinal axes substantially parallel with each other and including a first filament section located along the longitudinal axis of the lamp with the remaining filament sections arranged substantially symmetrically around the first filament section.

10